FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

In a statement issued today, June 22, 2009, Charles McMahon, chairman of the Oneida City Democratic Committee, announced his candidacy for the Madison County Clerk.

Mr. McMahon stated:

“I am announcing my candidacy for the office of Madison County Clerk. I am running to continue my history of service to the communities in which I have lived and worked. I will bring my skills as a proactive problem solver and communicator along with my technical skills in finance, personnel and administration to the Madison County Clerk’s office to work in a positive manner to meet the needs of the public. My strengths are my ability to develop and promote team work in organizations to deliver excellent customer service.

I will bring a project oriented view to develop a progressive organization that produces efficient, cost effective delivery of quality customer services. I believe in using innovative approaches with current and developing technology to streamline operations with the aim of increasing customer satisfaction.

I will work with the personnel to develop an aggressive, structured team approach to promote the open, accessible and efficient delivery of services to the public.

I believe in and promote customer service. I believe that excellent customer service is the hallmark of a successful organization. I will work to insure expedient, efficient and smooth operations that exceed the expectations of the clients who utilize the clerk’s office and the DMV office.

I am an honest, hardworking, innovative problem solver with the experience and skills required to insure that views and needs of the public and county personnel will be heard and acted on. My approach to working with other people is one of leadership and collaboration while maintaining my integrity and the ideals I support.

I believe

- that government agencies and officials are in debt to the public and are to serve the public
- that government activities must be open to the scrutiny and approval of the public
- that government must be responsive to the public and must serve the public good
- that government has a duty to be responsible caretakers of the public’s taxes
- that government must continuously communicate with the public regarding all actions taken and decisions made”

Additional information regarding my candidacy is posted on the Oneida City Democratic Committee web page www.oneidanydems.com.”
